

Le Lorentz Center (Leiden, Pays-Bas) est un lieu de rencontres scientifiques semblable à l'ISSI (International Space Science Institute, Bern) mais ouvert sur toutes les disciplines, avec un accent sur le numérique. Le centre a récemment accueilli un workshop sur la météorologie de l'espace et l'intelligence artificielle (<http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/10.1002/2017SW001775/full>)

Ci-dessous figure l'AO pour des propositions de workshops pour 2019: typiquement 30 personnes pendant 5 jours dans un cadre propice au travail de groupe.

From: Lorentz Center - Info <info@lorentzcenter.nl>

The Netherlands eScience Center and the Lorentz Center are looking for researchers who want to join the Lorentz-eScience competition 2019 to organize a workshop at the Lorentz Center@Snellius, in Leiden, the Netherlands.

We would like to draw your attention to this program and also kindly ask you to distribute this link with the call poster in your network: <http://www.lorentzcenter.nl/Lorentz-eScience.php>
The deadline for a *pre-proposal *for this call*is 15 April 2018*.

The Lorentz-eScience competition aims to host a leading-edge workshop on digitally enhanced research: efficient utilization of data, software, and e-infrastructure. The workshop should bring together researchers from the academic scientific community and the public/private sector.

Information about the call as well as the partners of the Lorentz-eScience program can be found at the websites www.lorentzcenter.nl <<http://www.lorentzcenter.nl>> and www.esciencecenter.nl <<http://www.esciencecenter.nl/>>, or you can contact us. If you wish to receive the poster in print, please send us your postal address.

Sincerely,

Henriette Jensenius (Lorentz Center)
