

Message reçu par la liste Plas a Par:

Dear Colleagues:

I would like to announce that the Physics&Astronomy Department at UNLV has a tenure-track position available.

Please see the official advertisement below. If you have questions about the position please contact me.

All official applications and/or questions about the application process should go through the links in the ad.

Shock Physics/Chemistry, Assistant Professor

The University of Nevada, Las Vegas (UNLV) invites applications for Shock Physics/Chemistry, Assistant

Professor (16159). The successful candidate is expected to carry out an active, independent research program and teach students effectively at all levels. We seek outstanding candidates in experimental, computational and/or theoretical research. The successful candidate is expected to teach effectively at the undergraduate and graduate levels, as well as carry out an active, independent research program. Additional information about the department may be obtained from our website, <http://www.physics.unlv.edu/> <<http://www.physics.unlv.edu/>>.

This

position

requires a Ph.D. in physics or a related field from a regionally accredited college or university.

Preference will be given to applicants who have at least two years postdoctoral experience.

For more information and applications procedures go on-line at <https://hrsearch.unlv.edu> <<https://hrsearch.unlv.edu/>>. For assistance with UNLV's on-line applicant

portal, contact

UNLV Employment Services at (702) 895-3504 or applicant.inquiry@unlv.edu <<mailto:applicant.inquiry@unlv.edu>>.

EEO/AA/Vet/Disability Employer

--

Andrew Cornelius

Professor and Deputy Director of HiPSEC

UNLV Department of Physics and Astronomy

CB 454002

Las Vegas, NV 89154-4002

phone (702) 895-1727

fax (702) 895-0804